

Corsairs Get War Baptism

U.S.-Supplied Planes Enter Fray First Time

HANOI, Indo-China, (UPI) — Corsair fighter bombers supplied by the United States went into action over Indo-China for the first time Monday. The French-piloted planes—in the heaviest air strike of the seven-year-war—helped plaster Red-led Vietminh massed for a death thrust against Dien Bien Phu.

The war planes rained hundreds of tons of bombs on rebel concentrations in the hills surrounding the fortified plain.

The French high command did not disclose the actual number of sorties, but said they far exceeded the previous one-day record of 136 set earlier this year.

Steady Air Drop

Other French war planes ranged low over the fortress to protect transports flying fresh paratroops to the outnumbered French garrison.

A Union spokesman said a steady stream of men and supplies was being dropped—as rebel mortar and artillery subjected the bastion's shrinking defenses to a relentless pounding.

Detected to stop the airlift, the rebels moved their anti-aircraft batteries down from the surrounding hills and set them up on the rim of the fortress. They were pinned down, however, by a rain of rockets and machine gun fire from the French escort planes.

The Corsairs—first batch to arrive in Indo-China—were flown off a U.S. carrier on Easter Sunday and landed in a big French airbase between Saigon and Hanoi.

The French also pounded rebel supply columns rumbling over routes from Red China in Russian-made Molotov trucks.

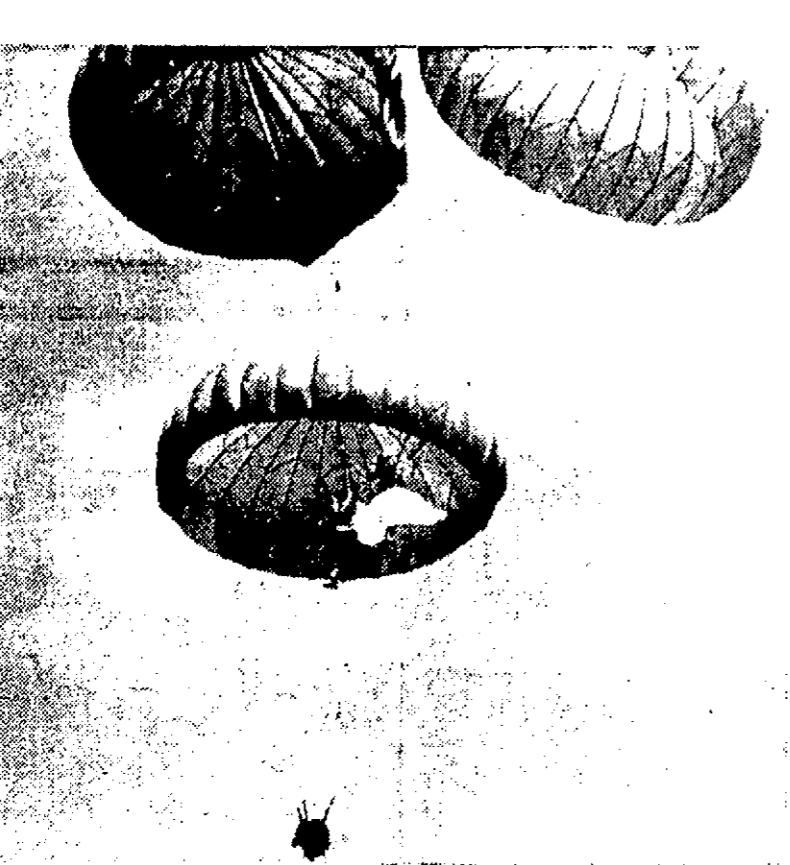

Everywhere in the region the intensive bombings touched off roaring fires among Vietminh encampments. Flames shot high in the sky as rebel ammunition depots caught fire.

On the muddy plain below French and rebel forces fought bitter trench battles in the shadow of the bastion's inner defenses.

300 Feet Away

Inside the bastion French tanks shunted from one point to another blasting at Vietminh shadow patrols who tried to slip through the barbed wire barriers protecting the garrison's vital nerve center.

In the northwest corner—weak spot in the union defenses—French mortars and machine guns smashed at the rebels dug into newly constructed trenches barely 300 feet away.

Officials Decide To Act On Extra-Curricular Questions

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

State educators and representatives of organizations allied with education grappled with the problem of extra-curricular activities Monday and decided something should be done about it.

The problem, as it was considered, came about on the urging of both parents and educators who claimed the students, from grade school all the way up, are spending too much time away from their education.

Some of the problems considered Monday included:

Over-participation on the part of a few and under-participation on the part of many in extra-curricular programs.

Excessive demands on the part of students, teachers and administrators.

The inability of some local boards and school administrators successfully to cope with the pressures exerted upon the schools.

Unsound financing of activities in many communities.

Following the meeting Monday in the office of State Supt. of Public Instruction Freeman B. Decker, it was decided to hold a larger conference with a wider representation early in the school year. It was asked also that local boards of education re-evaluate their activities programs and establish board policies where they do not exist. Also the boards are being asked to give appropriate guidance to their activities.

While the discussions centered in many respects around sports, activities such as band days and programs, school speech meets, school plays, other events not classed as purely educational came in for criticism.

In individual comment, Principal William Bogar of Lincoln High School suggested that "ratings, comparative scoring records, and everything else that appears in the papers" in connection with athletic programs "may have created a Frankenstein which the sport writers can't let go of."

Principal Ray Collins of the Kearney High School noted that inter-school competition is beginning too early in the curriculum which he said disrupts not only those participating but those that don't.

Supt. Walter French of Stromsburg pointed out that the problem for small schools differs from the problem of the larger institutions. He said his own school had sought to limit participation of its band and other units in "promotional activities" sponsored by neighborhood communities in the area, with the result that "we aren't too popular."

David Osterhout, Crete School Board member, suggested if there were "more emphasis on the three R's" other activities might de-emphasize themselves.

Aid Gets U.S. Yes, British No

...French Request

PARIS (UPI)—France—casting about for more aid to save her embattled Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu—has reportedly received a conditional yes from the United States and a tentative no from Britain.

A French informant attending the Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China said Secretary of State Dulles had told France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault the United States might consider sending forces to Indo-China if the Big Three follow through plans to form a 10-nation southeast Asia alliance.

Dulles reportedly said conclusion of this pact would open the way for American consideration of French requests for military aid. Britain and France have merely agreed to study the possibility of such an alliance.

But for the present, the informant said, the United States has turned down a reported request that U.S. Air Force planes and pilots be thrown in against the Red-led Vietminh besieging Dien Bien Phu.

Prime Minister Churchill's government was reported to have rejected—at least for the time being—any idea of direct military intervention in Indo-China. But informants indicated the British might send more troops and planes to Malaya and stage naval maneuvers off the Indo-China coast as a "show of strength."

John Munn, 4-H Worker, Dies At 48

Funeral services for John Munn, 48, of Rokeby, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Trinity Chapel at Denton. The Rev. Merlin Frantz will officiate.

Mr. Munn, an active worker in Lancaster County 4-H and extension circles died Monday. Death was attributed to a heart attack, according to Acting Coroner Mark Meyers. Mr. Munn had been loading bales of alfalfa on a truck at the Charles Tyrell farm near Waverly just before he died.

A native of Waverly, Mr. Munn was a farmer and stock raiser. He lived in the county all his life except for 10 years spent teaching vocational agriculture at Scotia and Harrison. He also operated the Rokeby elevator until a few weeks ago.

1931 NU Graduate—A 1931 graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, he was active in county and state fairs and Ak-sar-been livestock work.

He was a past president of the County Extension Board and the county 4-H Council. He had served as treasurer of the County Agricultural Association since last November.

Surviving are his wife, Mabel; three daughters, Janice, Judy and Edna; one son, John Jr., all at home; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Munn of Waverly; three sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Theobold of Beatrice, Mrs. Louise Winslow of Lincoln and Eunice of Waverly; and four brothers, Ross of Ohio, Emil of Grand Island; eight grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Burial will be at Hempton.

Monmouth Firings Not Due To Joe, Says Stevens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key quotations from the third day of hearings on the McCarthy-Pentagon dispute:

Secretary of the Army Stevens: Mr. (Roy) Cohn indicated that Sen. McCarthy was very mad and felt that I had doublecrossed him, and that my statement to the press he did not believe was a correct one. The press had carried what I had said to a considerable extent; the impact of which was that as of that date, Nov. 13, I did not know of any current espionage or spying at Fort Monmouth.

Q. (Ray Jenkins, special counsel for the Senate subcommittee) Did you state to the press that there was no current espionage at Ft. Monmouth, or did you state there was none that you knew of?

A. I said "so far as the Army is concerned, it did not have any proof that there was any espionage."

Q. Those are your exact words?

A. Yes, sir....

Q. Did you ever see Mr. Roy Cohn personally subsequently to Nov. 17 last year with reference to any issue in this controversy and particularly to any effort on his part to secure preferences for Pvt. G. David Schine?

A. I think not.

Q. Did Sen. McCarthy ever discuss Pvt. Schine with you subsequent to Nov. 17?

A. Yes. The next time was on Dec. 10 at luncheon in Washington. Sen. McCarthy asked a number of times during the course of that luncheon if Pvt. Schine could be assigned to New York at the end of eight weeks of basic training.

I felt that through repetition he was quite insistent about it.

Q. What were your replies to the senator?

A. I told him that David Schine, like every other boy, would have to finish his 16 weeks basic training.

Q. What occurred (at the meeting) on Jan. 14?

A. I told him (McCarthy) that David Schine was going to be transferred at the end of eight weeks of basic training to the provost marshal general's center at Camp Gordon, Ga. During this meeting on four or five occasions Sen. McCarthy brought up the question of whether or not David Schine could be assigned to New York City when his training was over. I said that David Schine would have to finish his training.

Q. So your last conversation with the senator was on Jan. 14?

A. With respect to Schine yes.

Q. You state . . . that no less than 65 telephone calls were made to you or your subordinates with reference to favors or preferential treatment to David Schine. Is that correct or not?

A. There were, I think, about that number.

Q. There were some 19 personal contacts with you or members of your staff with reference to David Schine, is that correct?

A. That is right.

Q. Making a total of 84 contacts either in person or by telephone with reference to Schine?

A. Yes.

Q. By that do you mean that not all of them were in the form of requests for leaves of absence, escaping KP and things of that kind?

A. I know that a large number of them were for that purpose, but I would not want to say that every one of those 84 contacts in which the subject of Schine was discussed was for specific preferential treatment. Most of them I think were....

Q. Do you feel that he (Cohn) used his office in an attempt at a perversion of the rules of the Army with reference to the treatment accorded an inductee or draftee?

Q. With reference to Sen. McCarthy . . . in what capacity did you consider he was acting, Mr. Stevens . . . ?

A. At first I thought it was a sort of personal thing . . . I finally had no other course than to conclude that Mr. Cohn's activities were with the knowledge and approval of the chairman of this committee (McCarthy). . . .

Q. Is it not fact that you did make concessions to leaves of absence, passes and so on?

A. We did, because we did not want the Army to be in the position of obstructing the work of a committee of Congress that at that time was engaged in investigating the Army.

Q. Were there 27 suspensions (at Ft. Monmouth) as a result of the McCarthy investigation?

A. My answer to that would have to be no. Then I have to say "but" . . . The reason I say "but" is that it is probably true that as a result of this committee's actions some of those suspensions took effect sooner than they otherwise would have.

Q. What you are saying is that if Sen. McCarthy had stayed out of the picture you would have ultimately have accomplished the same result that he did; is that right?

A. Yes, sir.

Members of the board pointed out that there is a 15-year backlog of needed construction that the department is now trying to make up and if funds are diverted to the interstate system it will put the state 25 years behind.

Ress said that some of the funds might be used on the west end of US 30 where present roads are in the "emergency" category. He suggested that a concrete road could be built while using the present oil road as a detour.

Ress told the commission that he was surprised at the high standards imposed for the interstate system which he said would be designed for 70 miles an hour speed. He said two new Platte River bridges would be necessary if the Lincoln-Omaha segment was built.

While members said that they favored other roads receiving improvement ahead of the interstate system they said changes will have to be made in state highway laws to meet changing federal legislation.

Fruit Of A Long Hassle

There probably is good business judgment in the decision by the Lincoln City Council to have reviewed the plans for a long-cherished city auditorium, in the realization of which the first spadeful of dirt is yet to fly.

Auditorium management and uses are not the same now as they were when the people of this community started to talk about an auditorium, voted bonds for its construction, and then for reasons known to almost everyone succeeded in dragging their collective feet when it came to getting the job done.

The Council Monday authorized the hiring of a west coast expert to come to Lincoln for the specific purpose of reviewing the original plans which have been prepared, and giving the Council the benefit of his study. While every dollar spent is important, actual travel expense and per diem charges are not as vital as the possibility that there could be more interminable delay. If the review contributes to financially sound operation through the years, then fine.

Either Lincoln builds its auditorium or it continues to make time to permit of additional discussion. The council, it is said, confidently expects to let a contract by fall. We would like to think this will be the result of the decision to have the plans prepared by architects locally associated with the project gone over again with particular emphasis upon their basic soundness when it comes to placing the auditorium project upon a financially solid basis.

We doubt that there will be any substantial agreement upon features of those original plans among the people of the community. No doubt some contribute more to sound operation than others.

The important thing is that any review undertaken should not stir up fresh controversy which could only contribute to additional delay.

A Vote On Peace Or War

One of the commentators in Washington expresses the opinion that, come next November, the American people may have a chance to vote on peace or war.

He refers, of course, to the congressional elections, when all of the members of the House and a third of the members of the Senate are up for renomination in the primaries earlier, and re-election in the later vote. Such an issue would dominate everything else. It could crucify thoughtful study, give free rein to the emotions. The desire of the American people is known. They are peace-loving. Never have they gone to war because of a warlike spirit—always their participation in war, in united spirit as it has been, has been accompanied with the regret that circumstances could not have been otherwise.

War has changed.

The totalitarian device of undeclared action of aggression, the principle of striking first such as happened in the early '40s and again in Korea, makes for chaos when

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

One of the fields explored more thoughtfully in the constitutional convention of 1920 in Nebraska was the subject of taxation. That convention made up of an outstanding group of citizens recognized that constitutional changes are slow, necessarily as a result of the procedure involved in achieving them, and that properly they require popular approval.

It was the happy, reassuring statement of the late Gov. Arthur J. Weaver, who as chairman of that constitutional convention, in presenting its labors to the people of this state insisted that no basic change had been made in Nebraska's organic law. Mr. Weaver preached that time and again up and down this state. As a result the convention came up with this provision governing the taxing of real and personal property: "The necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such a manner as the Legislature may direct; but taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises, and taxes uniform as to class may be levied by valuation upon all other property." The core of this controversy that has been in progress since a ruling by the Nebraska Supreme Court goes to the phrase, "uniformly and proportionately." The way out, it has been suggested, is to abandon the words, "uniformly and proportionately." While there have been years when this provision has been flouted (failure to apply it was the basis of the court decision), it will take quite a selling job to convince the people of Nebraska that assessments should be on any basis other than "uniformly and proportionately."

What is of concern to all Nebraskans is how much or how little shall be written into a state constitution where by virtue of the fact that it is a part of the constitution, its roots go deep. It is not a matter of trial and error. What goes in sticks for some time.

We are in no position to insist that the opening words in the present constitutional section on taxation are to be given greater weight than the part which follows. But that portion of this section that is the foundation of Nebraska's system of property taxation reads: "The necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such a manner as the Legislature may direct." That did not find its way into the constitution by way of chance. It expressed and it still expresses the deliberate judgment of a group of able Nebraskans who spent weeks in discussion and who gave weight to the phraseology that was to become a part of Nebraska's organic law. That provision first came from a small committee of the convention. It was discussed at length by the convention itself. Clearly it was the intent to provide a definition of tax powers which would give subsequent legislatures adequate authority to revise the tax system in such a manner as wisdom seemed to dictate. Now, the limitation that the assessed valuation should be uniform and proportionate simply embraced a restatement of ideals characteristic of the people of Nebraska in the field of taxation.

If the objective today is a broader tax base than now prevails, nothing that the constitutional convention of 1920 did stands in the way. That convention gave the Legislature broad powers, with but one single limitation or curb upon any action that it might take.

Whether at this time or, for that matter, any other time, Nebraska wants to write into its constitution letter by letter how the state's activities shall be financed is another question.

anyone starts to talk about a deliberate, considered verdict for war.

We have that confidence in the men who have occupied the White House that leads us to believe that not one of them, regardless of political party, ever called for a declaration of war by Congress without a sense of frightful responsibility, sadness and despair.

It is the everyday experience of the common citizen in the current discussion to acknowledge utter confusion. One day he is told that it may be necessary to send American fighting men to Indo-China. The statement comes from one supposedly closely associated with the present administration. The next day there is a denial that the view expressed actually was administration thinking, and the assertion that it is the opinion only of the individual doing the talking. Then the third day produces still another inconclusive statement.

If Congress is not confused, it may be assured that many, many people at home are. They simply cannot decide from day to day what policy actually is. They are told about a position of "firmness." They hear that Indo-China cannot be sacrificed to the Communists. It must be held at any price. That doctrine is expanded until it covers any sore spot of importance anywhere in the world. If that is true, then all involved is a gamble firmness will avert war. It may. It may not. Others will give the answer.

Now, when the congressional candidates return to the hustings, is it to be expected that they will commit themselves irrevocably to a vote against war—or, for that matter, to a vote for war? That is expecting a little too much, if this country is to be in a position to follow a common-sense course.

Only Congress can declare war constitutionally, unless by its actions in a broad delegation of authority Congress indirectly confers that power upon the Chief Executive.

Nixon On Korea

Vice President Nixon either hasn't been in politics long enough to say the right thing or he is frank to the point of being politically painful.

A merciful press did not emphasize a statement he made recently when he discussed the troubles in the Southwest Pacific with the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It found enough news in his statement that American arms might have to be employed in Indo-China.

He also said that as a matter of hindsight, it might have been better to have settled the whole South Pacific problem by pushing the Korean War to a decisive conclusion.

In the light of Republican statements during the Eisenhower presidential campaign, that remark is nothing less than rank heresy. It washes out the vote-getting position that Korea was Truman's war and something to be gotten rid of as quickly as possible. That position appealed to many, many voters who had sons or husbands holding the Korean line.

Nixon now seems to think that the administration settled nothing in Korea but only brought about a transfer of the war to another locality.

Bricker Puts Ike's Request Out The Door

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower tried to do a quiet favor for the railroads the other day which backfired.

A delegation of railroad presidents called at the White House and asked him to do something about the "time-lag" bill, a proposal to force the Interstate Commerce Commission to act on rate increases within sixty days.

If this type of cobalt bomb were exploded off the West Coast, the prevailing winds would carry it across the United States and scientists estimate it could devastate a wide area from California to the East Coast. That's why the Pentagon is alarmed over the cobalt smuggling.

It's believed the contraband cobalt comes from Chile and the Belgian Congo and is smuggled behind the Iron Curtain through Switzerland.

This is disturbing because cobalt is a magnetic metal that can be highly charged with radioactivity, and scientists claim that an H-bomb, coated with cobalt, will throw off such a poisonous dose of radioactive dust that it would kill everything in its path.

Reds Violate War Rules, Bidault Says

Block Dien Bien Phu Wounded Evacuation

GENEVA (AP) — French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault accused the Communist-led Vietminh rebels in Indo-China of violating the rules of warfare in refusing to allow the French to evacuate wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

In a statement issued at the Geneva conference opened, Bidault appealed for some action to allow the besieged garrison in northern Indo-China a temporary truce to send out "hundreds and hundreds" of its wounded.

The statement was not made to the conference session, but rather to world public opinion. Bidault asserted it would be "inconceivable," however, for a conference in the birthplace of the Red Cross to refrain from taking some action toward a humanitarian truce.

Hardest Conditions

Bidault said the French garrison had given the Vietminh a six-hour truce for this purpose earlier in the battle but that when the encircled garrison asked for similar action from the Vietminh its request went unanswered.

"Hundreds and hundreds of wounded of the French Union forces have hence not been able to be evacuated," said Bidault. "While we are speaking here they remain in makeshift shelters and in the hardest sort of conditions exposed to incessant bombardments."

He asserted that the Vietminh has not only refused to grant a truce but has also fired on hospital planes, marked with the Red Cross, which sought to take out wounded.

Curtis Predicts Congress Will Follow Ike's Social Security Recommendations

Rep. Carl T. Curtis of the First Nebraska Congressional District predicted here Monday that extensions and improvements in the federal Social Security law would be passed by Congress substantially along lines of the recommendations of President Eisenhower.

Speaking before the general session of the regional conference of the American Public Welfare Association at the Cornhusker Hotel, Rep. Curtis expressed the belief that of some 200 individual social security bills pending, one would be passed (1) extending coverage to farmers, lawyers, doctors and other self employed along with farm and domestic workers, (2) liberalizing the $75 a month work clause to extend the maximum earning limits from monthly to yearly limits, (3) increased benefits, (4) elimination of loopholes permitting foreign non-residents to receive benefits (5) guaranteeing widows at least three-fourths the benefits received by her husband and in no instances less than the minimum primary benefit.

Curtis said social security revision and old age assistance would be handled in separate bills.

Referring to his own earlier position which would have ended old age assistance, placing everyone on social security with adjusted benefits and increased pay-ins, Curtis pointed out that his work was more one of survey than legislative reform.

He said, "Old age assistance or poor relief is not the best way to meet the problem of aged who can no longer produce for themselves. It is a major item for local and state governments. The Federal government makes grants to the several states with a wide variation in amounts.

Curtis said he would support a bill to end old age assistance.

New Nebraska Senator Sworn Into Office

Mrs. Bowring Is Welcomed By Colleagues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Eva Bowring, 62-year-old ranger-riding grandmother from Merriman, Neb., Monday was sworn in as a member of the U. S. Senate.

Vice President Nixon administered the oath to Mrs. Bowring. She was appointed by Gov. Robert Crosby of Nebraska to serve in place of the late Sen. Dwight Griswold, who died unexpectedly just two weeks ago.

Escorted By Butler

Mrs. Bowring was escorted down the main aisle of the Senate floor by Nebraska's senior senator, the veteran Hugh Butler.

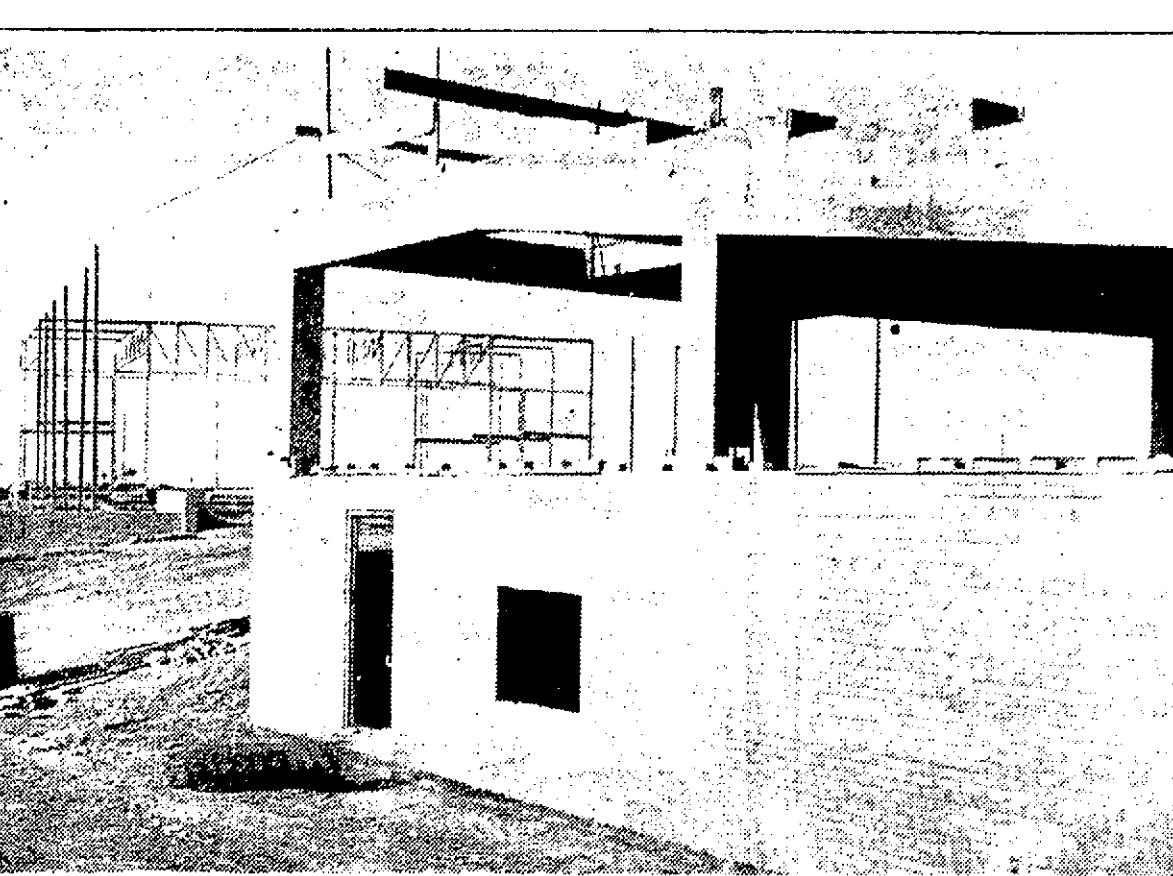

Immediately after taking the oath and receiving a warm handshake from Nixon, Mrs. Bowring was greeted by Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader, and other senators.

Also on the Senate floor were Gov. Crosby and former Sen. Fred Seaton (R-Neb) and Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb). Seaton was named to fill out until the 1952 election the term of the late Sen. Wherry (R-Neb). He declined to run for the two year term and Griswold then was elected.

'Lost' Plane Found Quickly

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—A Civil Air Patrol air search and rescue training mission ended quickly as Gen. Schmidt of Poter found the lost plane 2½ miles north of Julesburg, Colo., near the Nebraska - Colorado line.

Schmidt, member of the Sidney CAP squadron and his two observers, Allan Karnik and R. L. Baker, both of Sidney took off at 10:16 a.m. and at 12:33 p.m. reported finding the "wreckage." A CAP ground rescue squad took over, going from Julesburg.

Some 35 planes and 135 CAP members from over the state participated in the mission, which covered the area between Sidney and North Platte. Officials from Lowry Air Force, Denver, set up the mission problem for the CAP members to work out.

Niobrara Irrigation Project Advocated

Ainsworth Plan Draws Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of Nebraskans Monday urged congressional authorization of four irrigation projects on the Niobrara River but opposition developed to the one proposed for Ainsworth.

Farmers and conservation leaders testified before a House interior subcommittee in support of Lavaca Flats, Mirage Flats extension, Ainsworth and O'Neill projects costing an estimated 98 million dollars.

However, Dr. A. L. Lugin, University of Nebraska geology professor, and Lynn E. Heth, of Valentine, attorney for the Sand Hills Conservation Assn., strongly opposed the Ainsworth project which would cost $25,581,000 and irrigate 33,900 acres.

Govs. Robert Crosby of Nebraska and Sigurd Anderson of South Dakota told the subcommittee they believed the Niobrara valley should be included in the overall Missouri River development program.

"It would be a tragedy if this became a forgotten valley," Crosby said.

Awaits Bureau Report

But he told the committee he would not prejudge any single one of the four proposed projects. Crosby said he would await a final report on the feasibility of the projects by the Bureau of Reclamation before giving his approval.

The Ainsworth project calls for construction of the Merritt Dam and reservoir on the Snake River, tributary of the Niobrara, and the building of a 52-mile canal from there to Ainsworth.

Heth told the congressmen he was making no threats but that, as a last resort, his group probably would "resort to the courts" to prevent moving water from the Snake.

His position was that water taken out of a river must be returned to the same river. He said that state law is violated in the plan to take water from the Snake and return a portion of it to the Niobrara after it has passed through the canal and part used for irrigation.

Window Shattering Appears At York

YORK, Neb.—Window shattering, which has mystified residents in western states, has arrived in York. A similar report came last week from McCook.

The rear window of the Fred Blodgett family car shattered as Mr. Blodgett began to drive out of his driveway. He said the back window was perfectly clear when he started to back out.

Blodgett said, "The back window just exploded. Seemed like somebody hit it with a brickbat." The window was honeycombed with tiny combs.

Although no exact cause has been found for the window breaking, some observers in the western part of the country believe that atomic rays of some sort are causing the damage.

Ike Hopes Great Powers At Geneva Will See War's Futility

This Is 'A Time Of Great Decisions'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower solemnly expressed hope that the great powers meeting in Geneva will "see the futility of depending upon war, or the threat of war" as a means of settling international disputes.

Eisenhower appeared to be directing his words to Soviet Russia and Red China as he spoke of "some antagonistic powers" attending the Geneva conference.

Addressing the 42nd convention of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Eisenhower declared this "time of great decisions," with the outcome of the Indo-China War freighted with "the greatest significance" for the United States.

Maybe New Look

Earlier, Secretary of Defense Wilson told the Chamber that events in Europe and Asia may require a full-scale new look at U.S. military plans, policies and spending.

"The next few months are obviously critical in world affairs," Wilson said, "and what happens in Europe and Asia may force a soul-searching review of our spaceman policies, plans, objectives and expenditures."

Approximately 3,000 delegates to the Chamber of Commerce session greeted Eisenhower with a standing ovation.

Cork In The Bottle

The President said Indo-China is "the cork in the bottle" whose loss to the Communists would affect the fate of hundreds of millions "in the surrounding areas of Asia."

In this connection, he specifically mentioned Indonesia, Burma and Thailand.

"No matter how the struggle may have started, it has long since become one of the testing places between a free form of government and dictatorship," he said.

Great Significance

"Its outcome is going to have the greatest significance for us, and possibly for a long time into the future."

Eisenhower also declared that survival of the newly formed government of Japan may hinge on events in Southeast Asia, because Japan must trade there.

How can the democratic government of Japan exist, he asked, if those areas fall to Communism?

Some Antagonistic

Turning to the Geneva conference, the President continued: "We see representatives of great — and some antagonistic — powers meeting there, trying to arrive at some situation that at least we could call a 'modus vivendi' (way of living).

"We do not hope, I think, very soon to have the type of understanding that we believe we can ultimately develop among ourselves as to great issues.

"But we would hope that the logic of today's situation would appeal to all peoples, regardless of their ruthlessness, so that they would see the futility of depending upon war, or the threat of war, as a means of settling international difficulty."

Keep It Clean!

CINCINNATI (AP) — Get rid of the things in that cluttered medicine cabinet is the warning of Dr. Carl Wilzbach, city health commissioner. Old adhesive tape, cotton and iodine can cause a lot of trouble, he told a newsman, adding: "Most medicine cabinets are loaded with dynamite." The usual, fresh, first-aid articles always should be kept on hand, however, the physician said.

Trained Personnel Delinquency Solution

By BARCLAY BAYLEY
Star Staff Writer

Trained welfare personnel are the best answer to the problem of juvenile delinquency, a general session of the regional conference of the American Public Welfare Association was told Monday afternoon at the Cornhusker Hotel.

The statement was made by Dr. William Livingston of London, England, visiting lecturer in psychiatry during a panel discussion. The other member of the panel, Dr. Garnet Larson of the graduate school of social work at the University of Nebraska, also agreed with this view.

Better Control

Dr. Livingston told how the English, who have the juvenile problem under better control, brought trained personnel into the government from private agencies. This system, he said, partially accounts for their better success.

Another important attribute, they both agreed, was the welfare workers attitude toward the child and toward the parents of the child.

"Patience and tolerance are the best ways to get the co-operation of the parent and child," he said. Two other things will help combat delinquency, Dr. Livingston said. They are: more free play area for children and training for mothers and fathers in how to deal with children.

Few Criminals

Emphasizing that there are few real criminals and psychopaths among the so-called delinquents, Dr. Larson told the social workers that they "should not become overwhelmed by the statistics on delinquency."

In outlining methods of handling their cases she said that a good principle to always bear in mind is that the subject child should be looked upon as a person needing help rather than one to be punished.

No More Hearings Planned On Radial Highway At Omaha

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's Highway Commission, meeting at the Statehouse Tuesday turned thumbs down on further hearings on the "outer belt" Omaha radial highway.

The commission said the matter was concluded with approval of the project by the Douglas County Board. The project ultimately will be a four-lane divided highway extending diagonally from 72nd and Dodge Streets to 56th and L.

State Engineer L. N. Ress said the Highway Department, which he heads, is ready to go on with the project which is expected to cost around a half million dollars. The present two-year program includes $100,000 for the radial system.

Will Hear Group

At the request of C. Russell Lockwood, director of the Nebraska Petroleum Industries committee, the commission voted Monday to take time at its May meeting to hear the Highway Users' Conference. Expected meeting date is May 25 or 26.

In other action, the commission turned down a proposal of a Burton-Jamison-Mills group that a gap in No. 12 east of Springview be improved. The reason given was there were no funds now.

A recommendation was delayed on proposed improvement of Route 3-8 west of Falls City until the commission has finished laying out 6,500 miles of state system highways as directed by the Legislature in the 1953 session.

The commission is expected to tackle the trunk highway system in its Tuesday meeting.

Prospects 'Favorable'

Ress told the commission that prospects are favorable for oiling the remainder of No. 87 between Rushville and Whiteclay, a project advocated by the Rushville Chamber of Commerce. The commission is expected to tackle the trunk highway system in its Tuesday meeting.

AN EXCITING WEEK

THIS IS an exciting week from almost every standpoint—The Lincoln Symphony opens its membership campaign today—The Garden Club of Lincoln opens its annual spring show late Saturday afternoon—and in addition to the calendar notations concerning organizations, there is a lighter side to the morning news—guests—brides-elect—and parties for both.

IT was quite a day for at least two families yesterday—The Traphagen's, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Traphagen, spent considerable of the morning peering from windows and doors, awaiting the arrival of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates Jr., of New York City. And over at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grey R. Jewett, a bride-elect—Miss Ruthie Jewett, was anxiously awaiting the arrival of a bridegroom—John T. Small, also of New York City.

It was a simultaneous arrival, we might add—for Mr. and Mrs. Yates and Mr. Small drove from New York to gether. * * *

AND that brings us to Wednesday and the 5 o'clock to 8 o'clock party for which Mr. and Mrs. Traphagen and Mr. and Mrs. Yates will be hosts. * * *

and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Traphagen when the honored eightsons will include Miss Ruthie Jewett and Mr. Small; Miss Pat Loder and her fiance, Randall Ayer, whose marriage will be solemnized in late June; Miss Shirley Sidles and her fiance, Tom Bowman of Denver, who also have a June wedding date—and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Frazer (Mary Desmond).

TOOK another look at the brides' book and discovered that four Delta Gamma brides-elect will be sharing honors at various courtesies in the days to come—Included in this foursome are Miss Sue Brownlee, whose marriage to Theodore L. James Jr., of Denver, will take place on Saturday, May 15; Miss Susan Reinhardt, who is to marry William Bailey on June 12—Miss Joy Wachel, who is the fiancee of Cadet Jefferson Davis, now stationed at Pensacola, Fla., and Miss Paula Withey, who becomes the bride of Lt. David Phipps on July 13.

BUT back to Thursday—and a luncheon for which Mrs. Glenn K. Deeter will be hostess when she entertains at the Airport. Mrs. Deeter has invited 20 guests for the luncheon and an informal afternoon. An out of town guest will be Mrs. C. R. Philbrick of Omaha who arrives Thursday morning.

ON Thursday evening Miss Brownlee and Mr. James will be the incentives for a 5:30 o'clock to 7:30 o'clock party for which Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart will be host and hostess at their home. The guest list will include the members of the bridal party and the parents of the honorees—Mr. and Mrs. John Brownlee of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. James of Denver.

Complimenting three members of the foursome—Miss Brownlee, Miss Reinhardt and Miss Wachel next Saturday will be Miss Withey and the Misses Sue and Sally Sveska who will be luncheon hostesses at the home of Miss Withey in Omaha. The guest list will include the senior class of the Delta Gamma active chapter.

IT'S to be a busy week-end for Delta Gamma seniors—The luncheon on Saturday in Omaha and back to Lincoln on Sunday to attend a picnic and shower for which Miss Wachel and Miss Jane White will be hostesses when they compliment Miss Reinhardt, Miss Withey and Miss Brownlee.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulkner and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ames would be plane-ing off next Sunday for New Orleans where Mr. Faulkner and Mr. Ames will be busy at an insurance meeting—but after the meeting the foursome plans a brief respite at Clear Point, Miss.

ACTIVE in the Nebraska Division for more than seven years, Mrs. Campbell assumed her duties as president in July, 1952; after serving as president of the Norfolk branch of AAUW and as state first vice president, in which capacity she was membership and credentials chairman and president and treasurer of the South Dakota division of AAUW. Mrs. Arnold also has served as president of the Rapid City branch and is a past president of the Rapid City Woman's Club.

Long interested in civic problems, Mrs. Arnold initiated an AAUW-sponsored survey of housing, health, education and recreation of low-income groups in Rapid City which led to a permanent project to aid the Indians as well as other minority groups in the community. This project is now backed by the Friends Service Committee and many Rapid City civic organizations.

With Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. E. W. Orme of Lincoln, a past president of the Nebraska AAUW, Mrs. Arnold will preside at a series of workshops to be featured at the convention.

state program co-ordinator.

During her administration as state president, the Nebraska AAUW has adopted a definite policy toward various state and national legislative issues, and a qualification card file of all AAUW members in the state has been set up.

Mrs. Campbell is well suited to preside at a convention which will have as its theme, "Human Values in a Technical World."

The wife of the athletic coach at Norfolk High School, she herself, has played on various teams in the National AAU Women's basketball tournaments. The Campbells have three daughters, Margilee, 11, Beverly, 9, and Marilyn, 8, who have been the incentive for Mrs. Campbell's PTA activities.

Chairman of her Presbyterian Church circle, she also is noted for her book reviews in the Fremont and Norfolk areas. She is a member of PEO and Eastern Star, and in 1952-53 served as Dodge County civilian defense chairman. Governor Crosby appointed her chairman of the steering committee for the recent lay leadership conference on education, held at Lincoln.

A popular figure in AAUW circles in Nebraska and noted for her generous sense of humor is Mrs. J. D. Arnold of Rapid City, S. D., vice president of the Northwest Central Region of the American Association of University Women, who will be a featured speaker at the convention.

As regional vice president, Mrs. Arnold directs the activities of AAUW in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska, and represents the area on the national board of directors in Washington, D. C.

In this capacity, she has visited nine branches of the organization in Nebraska during the past year and presided at the regional meeting in Minneapolis last summer.

A past president, first vice president and treasurer of the South Dakota division of AAUW. Mrs. Arnold also has served as president of the Rapid City branch and is a past president of the Rapid City Woman's Club.

Long interested in civic problems, Mrs. Arnold initiated an AAUW-sponsored survey of housing, health, education and recreation of low-income groups in Rapid City which led to a permanent project to aid the Indians as well as other minority groups in the community. This project is now backed by the Friends Service Committee and many Rapid City civic organizations.

With Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. E. W. Orme of Lincoln, a past president of the Nebraska AAUW, Mrs. Arnold will preside at a series of workshops to be featured at the convention.

Malenkov Warns Against 'A' Attack

Retaliation Promised

MOSCOW (AP)—Any aggressor who attacks the Soviet Union with atomic weapons will be crushed by the same weapon, Premier Georgi Malenkov announced. He predicted "any such adventure will inevitably lead to the downfall of the capitalist system."

Malenkov addressed the Supreme Soviet (Parliament). Both he and Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the central committee of the Communist Party, attacked U. S. policies. Khrushchev said:

"If anyone thinks as Hitler thought, that we are weak, we will show them, as we showed Hitler, just how weak we are."

Malenkov charged "aggressive circles" in the United States with "artificially maintaining an atmosphere of war hysteria" and "threatening the world with the hydrogen bomb."

Tension Plea

While accusing America of "resorting to methods of threat and intimidation" and boasting of Soviet atomic progress, Malenkov at the same time pleaded over and over again for a "further easing of international tension."

Malenkov and Khrushchev demanded that the United States abandon its policy of non-recognition of Communist China and claimed that this was one of the major hindrances to the solution of world problems.

Malenkov demanded the outlawing of atomic weapons and said this was necessary for a solution of world problems.

Thomas Smith Rites To Be Wednesday

Funeral services for Thomas B. Smith, 80, of 510 Adams, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Umbersberg. The Rev. Clarence Smith will officiate. Burial will be at Fairview.

Mr. Smith, a State Fairgrounds employee, died Sunday. A native of Ray County, Mo., he had lived in Lincoln for 10 years. He formerly farmed near Culbertson.

Mr. Smith was a member of the Culbertson Methodist Church.

Surviving are three sons, three daughters, one brother, one sister, 17 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

$125-A-Day Auditorium Expert Is Hired To Aid In City Study

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Changes in modern day auditorium concepts have prompted the City Council to approve action which may be the abandonment of existing auditorium plans.

As recommended by the Council's own auditorium committee, the Council approved the hiring of an auditorium contracting and management expert. This man, whose name has not yet been divulged, will advise the city on its needs at the rate of $125 a day plus traveling expenses, with the total bill not expected to exceed $500.

Reporting on the committee activity, Councilman Pat Ash stated that his group felt the auditorium as originally planned could not be built with the funds on hand and a safe operating cushion. A cushion of 10 per cent is the minimum he said, while bids on the original auditorium plans would come very close to the $2.5 million the city has, even with many extras cut out.

Also, he stated, concepts of an auditorium have changed and methods of construction have changed. Plans suitable for Lincoln 10 years ago, he said, may be completely outmoded today.

Ash reported the committee was confident some type of suitable building could be erected and a start made on the structure this fall.

Only Councilman Rees Wilkins voiced any objection to the hiring of a consultant. The councilman questioned whether the consultant's service would bring about any greater understanding or merely tend to confuse the issue.

DUV Group Will Hold Grant Dinner Tuesday

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865 will hold a Ulysses S. Grant dinner at the YWCA Tuesday evening. Dr. Frank Court of St. Paul Church will speak on the life of Grant. There will be community singing, piano solos and historical quiz games. Mrs. W. D. Way is in charge of the program.

Polio Tests Decision Left To Localities

The State Board of Health decided Monday that problems relative to the use of polio vaccine and gamma globulin in Nebraska this year should be left to the local health authorities in the affected areas and to the state Polio Co-ordinating Committee.

The Polio Co-ordinating Committee, headed by Dr. Harold Neu of Omaha, meets here Wednesday night.

April 30 is the date specified for delivery of vaccine for use in the two counties designated in Nebraska for the tests—Douglas and Lancaster.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, explained the last injection of the vaccine would come after school closes, but school authorities have agreed to reopen their buildings for that purpose.

Only second grade pupils in the two counties are to be vaccinated, and then only with consent of the parents.

The commission delayed action until May 24 on the federal government's notice that communities along the Republican River which dump raw sewage into the river should begin making plans to stop polluting the stream.

Nebraska communities in this category are Franklin, Red Cloud and Superior.

Cities along the Missouri and Blue Rivers have agreed on a deadline for submitting their engineering plans to the state sanitation division. The date for the Missouri is July 1, and for the Blue, Oct. 1.

Ex-Western Leaguer Leading NL Batter

NEW YORK (AP) — Ransom (Randy) Jackson of the Chicago Cubs and Cleveland's Bill Glynn, neither of whom have particularly distinguished themselves during their major league baseball careers, were leading their respective circuits in batting Tuesday as the 1954 campaign headed into its third week.

Jackson, formerly with the Des Moines Bruins in the Western League, in nine games has collected 19 hits in 38 times at bat for a highly impressive .500 average which puts Randy Jackson comfortably at the top of the National League batting list. The slugging third baseman numbers two doubles and four homers among his safeties. He batted .285 in 1953 and is .264 for four seasons in the majors.

Glynn, a .243 hitter last year, paces the American League with a .419 mark on 13 hits in 31 trips. However, he is closely followed by Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox and rookie Outfielder Bill Tuttle of Detroit, both with .405.

Danny O'Connell, the infielder Milwaukee obtained from Pittsburgh during the winter, has made the Braves' end of the deal look good. He's batting .415, a figure second only to Jackson in the senior loop. Behind O'Connell comes freshman Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals with .410. Gil Hodges of Brooklyn with .395. Jackie Robinson, also of the Dodgers, with .394 and Joe Adcock of Milwaukee at .382.

Billy Goodman, one of the few American Leaguers with a lifetime average of better than .300 (He's .311), is fourth in his circuit with a .372 mark. Baltimore's Vern Stephens, showing signs of his old time productive hitting form with the Boston Red Sox and the defunct St. Louis Browns, is fifth with .366. He's followed by Nellie Fox of Chicago with .364 and Forrest (Spook) Jacobs of Philadelphia with .357.

Eddie Mathews, the National League's home run king last season with 47, again shows signs of making a run for the crown this year. The Milwaukee star is in a six-way tie for the lead with four circuit blows. Others with that total are Jackson, Hank Sauer and Gene Baker of the Cubs, Wally Post of Cincinnati and Hodges.

In the American League, Jensen and Cleveland's Wally Westlake are deadlocked for the home run lead also with four apiece. Runs batted in honors are held by Jim Greengrass of Cincinnati in the National League (13) and Ferris Fain of Chicago in the American (12).

Usual Description Of Fight Managers Doesn't Fit Hurley

By WHITEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Fight managers often are described, as a class, as heartless, grasping individuals who are immune to pain, particularly if it is being suffered by one of their athletes.

If that were true, a fighter might be expected to look upon the man who handles his business affairs with anything but genuine affection.

Consequently Jack Hurley can be forgiven for sticking out his skinny chest with pride in the fact that one of his former fighters thinks well enough of him to place his son in the hands of the lean and ulcerous manager.

Charley Retzlaff, well-known heavyweight about 25 years ago, has a boy, Jimmy, an 18-year-old, 6-foot, 2-inch, 168-pounder, he had hoped would join him in his automobile business at Detroit Lakes, Minn.

The youngster had his heart set for a fling at boxing. George Barton of the Minneapolis Tribune reports, so his dad agreed to go along with him.

"Since he has made up his mind to be a pugilist," the elder Retzlaff told Barton, "I intend providing him with every opportunity to prove his mettle. With this in mind, I have arranged with Jack Hurley, my former manager, to handle him."

"Jack, in my estimation, is the smartest manager in the boxing game."

That's quite a tribute from the guy who took the lumps while the man was cutting in on his purses and patching him up in his corner was escaping unscathed. Obviously Hurley isn't of the "get in there and fight, kid; he can't hurt us" school.

The National Basketball Association is to be complimented for refusing to alter its rules so that it could take Bevo Francis off its wing.

The rule is to the effect that a college player cannot play in the league until after his class had been graduated, and Francis, who recently was removed from the student list at Rio Grande, still has two years to go before he reaches that stage of his career.

The temptation to make an exception in his case must have been great, for there is no question about his being a tremendous drawing card, and it's all.

Heavy Slate For Wesleyan

Nebraska Wesleyan University will swing into the heaviest round of spring sport activity of the current season today when Coach Roy Robertson's thincldads entertain the Wayne State track squad at O. N. Magee Memorial stadium and the Wesleyan golf team competes in a three-way meet with Midland and Doane at Crete.

Plainsman baseball and tennis teams inaugurated the heavy program, competing with Midland and Doane respectively Monday.

Wesleyan track facilities will be taxed to capacity with three high school meets slated. Cass County high school thincldads will run off their annual championships Wednesday; the Lancaster County Boys and Girls meet is slated for Thursday and the First Annual Lincoln Public Schools night meet for Saturday.

The schedule:

TUESDAY—Track, Wayne State at Lincoln; Tennis, Wesleyan, Doane, Midland at Crete.

WEDNESDAY—Track, Cass County high school track and field championships.

THURSDAY—Baseball, Danforth College at Blair; Golf, Lincoln Public Schools Night Meet (Northeast, Lincoln High School and College View High School) and Girls meet.

The compromise program, the emphasis being placed a basis of need for financial aid, is now being analyzed by the conference and is subject to modifications and amendments. It will be taken up again at the Big Ten meeting at Purdue May 27-29.

ways difficult to turn down money.

Such an action would have resulted in widespread criticism, and charges that the league was putting its selfish interests over those of athletes by interfering with their education.

Francis undoubtedly will play pro basketball, but as a barnstormer. How good he will be when he finally is eligible for NBA play is problematical. He's not right now, though. Not necessarily as a student, but as a basketball player.

Creighton Scores Win Over Doane

Lincoln Star Special

FREMONT—Wesleyan batters teed off on two Midland pitchers for a total of 11 hits, including a double, three triples and four home runs, to beat the hosts Tuesday, 11-1.

Centerfielder Foster McGuire of Wesleyan took hitting honors with four hits in five times at the plate, including two triples and a homer, and a total of three runs, while racking up 16 strikeouts. Two of the hits were by the opposing pitcher, Dean Handy.

Handy limited Creighton to four hits and collected seven strikeouts.
